

Abstract

Nucleic acid sequences that identify a gene product associated with Glioblastoma Multiforme are disclosed. Nucleic acid probes for mRNA transcripts whose expression is associated with glioblast transformation and methods for using these probes in identifying 5 patients at risk for progression into a malignant phenotype are also disclosed.